The franchisee will operate a restaurant for the on-premises and off-premises consumption of a wide assortment of made-to-order submarine type sandwiches, other hot sandwiches, salads and related food products and beverages under the name "Cousins Subs," "Cousins" or "Cousins Submarines." The franchisor offers these franchises individually under the terms of a standard franchise agreement. The franchisor offers multi-unit development rights under the terms of franchisor's multi-unit development agreement.

The total investment necessary to begin operation of a single unit Cousins Subs Shop ranges from $292,200 to $797,500. This includes $45,000 to $70,000 in fees payable to Cousins.

Cousins also offers multi-unit development opportunities in select markets. The total investment necessary under the multi-unit development agreement ranges from $17,500 to $78,750 (plus the initial franchise fee for the first Cousins Subs Shop of $25,000), all of which is payable to Cousins. Cousins credits $8,750 of the development fee against the $17,500 initial franchise fee for each shop (other than the first shop) to be developed under the multi-unit development agreement.

What You Need To Know About Franchising Generally

Continuing responsibility to pay fees. You may have to pay royalties and other fees even if you are losing money.

Business model can change. The franchise agreement may allow the franchisor to change its manuals and business model without your consent. These changes may require you to make additional investments in your franchise business or may harm your franchise business.

Supplier restrictions. You may have to buy or lease items from the franchisor or a limited group of suppliers the franchisor designates. These items may be more expensive than similar items you could buy on your own.

Operating restrictions. The franchise agreement may prohibit you from operating a similar business during the term of the franchise. There are usually other restrictions. Some examples may include controlling your location, your access to customers, what you sell, how you market, and your hours of operation.

Competition from franchisor. Even if the franchise agreement or multi-unit development agreement grants you a territory, the franchisor may have the right to compete with you in your territory.

Renewal. Your franchise agreement may not permit you to renew. Even if it does, you may have to sign a new agreement with different terms and conditions in order to continue to operate your franchise business.

When your franchise ends. The franchise agreement may prohibit you from operating a similar business after your franchise ends even if you still have obligations to your landlord or other creditors.

Some States Require Registration

Your state may have a franchise law, or other law, that requires franchisors to register before offering or selling franchises in the state. Registration does not mean that the state recommends the franchise or has verified the information in this document. To find out if your state has a registration requirement, or to contact your state, use the agency information in Exhibit 2.

Your state also may have laws that require special disclosures or amendments be made to your franchise agreement. If so, you should check the State Specific Addenda. See the Table of Contents for the location of the State Specific Addenda.
