an Alabama Limited Liability Company
402 Industrial Lane
Birmingham, AL 35211

The franchise is for a Yogurt Mountain® store (a “Store”) featuring self-service frozen yogurt and related products and, at your option, coffee, baked goods, and related products. The total investment necessary to begin operation of a Store ranges from $271,110 to $616,000. This includes $30,000 to $35,000 that must be paid to the franchisor or its affiliates.

At your request, we may allow you to sign a multi-unit development agreement (a “Development Agreement”) that will obligate you to acquire multiple franchises and open multiple Stores. When you sign a Development Agreement, you must pay to franchisor a development fee of $5,000 multiplied by the number of franchises you agree to acquire. While the franchisor and you may agree to deviate from it, the franchisor’s standard Development Agreement requires that you commit to acquiring between 2 and 5 franchises (the specific number subject to your and our agreement), in which case, the development fee would be $10,000 to $25,000, all of which must be paid to the franchisor. The development fee represents the total investment necessary to become an area developer under a Development Agreement but see above for the current investment necessary to open a Store.

What You Need To Know About Franchising Generally

Continuing responsibility to pay fees. You may have to pay royalties and other fees even if you are losing money.

Business model can change. The franchise agreement and/or the multi-unit development agreement may allow the franchisor to change its manuals and business model without your consent. These changes may require you to make additional investments in your franchise business or may harm your franchise business.

Supplier restrictions. You may have to buy or lease items from the franchisor or a limited group of suppliers the franchisor designates. These items may be more expensive than similar items you could buy on your own.

Operating restrictions. The franchise agreement and/or the multi-unit development agreement may prohibit you from operating a similar business during the term of the franchise. There are usually other restrictions. Some examples may include controlling your location, your access to customers, what you sell, how you market, and your hours of operation.

Competition from franchisor. Even if the franchise agreement and/or the multi-unit development agreement grants you a territory, the franchisor may have the right to compete with you in your territory.

Renewal. Your franchise agreement and/or the multi-unit development agreement may not permit you to renew. Even if it does, you may have to sign a new agreement with different terms and conditions in order to continue to operate your franchise business.

When your franchise ends. The franchise agreement and/or the multi-unit development agreement may prohibit you from operating a similar business after your franchise ends even if you still have obligations to your landlord or other creditors.

Some States Require Registration

Your state may have a franchise law, or other law, that requires franchisors to register before offering or selling franchises in the state. Registration does not mean that the state recommends the franchise or has verified the information in this document. To find out if your state has a registration requirement, or to contact your state, use the agency information in Exhibit A.

Your state also may have laws that require special disclosures or amendments be made to your franchise agreement. If so, you should check the State Specific Addenda. See the Table of Contents for the location of the State Specific Addenda.
